

Exclusion List

Never Sold Through Orange Journeys

Activities and experiences we do not offer to clients, on animal-welfare, human-rights and cultural-integrity grounds.

Poverty tourism

- Guided tours of marginalised Indigenous communities emphasising poverty
- Organised tours or walks through disadvantaged neighbourhoods focusing on poverty
- Visiting homeless shelters or soup kitchens solely for observation

Exploitation (human or cultural)

- Over-commercialisation and commodification of cultural experiences, turning them into tourist spectacles rather than opportunities for genuine cultural exchange and understanding
- Cultural performances or events that misrepresent or caricature Indigenous cultures, perpetuating stereotypes and undermining authenticity and dignity
- Unethical or disrespectful treatment of sacred sites or cultural landmarks, such as climbing or vandalising significant rock formations or ancient sites

Touching wild animals

- Australian native-animal cuddling experiences – handling and excessive human contact can cause stress and harm to species that are sensitive to it
- Selfies holding any type of wild animal

Feeding animals in the wild

- Shark baiting
- Throwing fish to attract seals, sea birds or marine mammals
- Crocodile feeding encounters
- Unregulated dolphin feeding, and any feeding involving captive dolphins (regulated, government-permitted wild-dolphin feeding programmes conducted under supervision and defined animal-welfare protocols are permitted)
- Leaving food waste in wild places where animals are likely to find it

Captive marine mammals

- Dolphins, orca, whales, seals or sea lions held in captivity
- “Swim-with” activities using captive marine mammals

Performances with captive wild animals

- Animal circuses, including dolphin shows
- Animal entertainment that does not take welfare, natural behaviour and needs into account

Animal cruelty

- Any form of animal fighting (kangaroo boxing, crocodile wrestling, etc.)
- Hunting
- Illegal fishing

Trade of endangered species

- Unlicensed zoos and other venues where animals are kept in captivity
- Shops selling framed (endangered) butterflies or similar
- Attractions where species are acquired from the wild
- So-called “sanctuaries” that breed animals for sale

This list is reviewed periodically as part of our supplier engagement and product development process and applies to all excursions and activities packaged or sold by Orange Journeys, whether delivered directly by contracted suppliers or offered through local partners.